Study Request For Bowling Alley Bar License

The question of rezoning land at the southwest corner of U. S. 30 and Spencer road to permit the sale of liquor there in the event the property is classified to accommodate a bowling alley has been taken under advisement of the Will county zoning board of appeals.

Requests for rezoning the tract were filed by the two owners, Walter Ruthenbeck and Gerald D. Schreffler, Ruthenbeck and Schreffler each filed a request for B-3 classification, which would permit the bowling alley. Ruthenbeck also filed another request for a B-2 classification which would permit the sale of liquor in the bowling alley.

Dwight L. Davidson, proprietor of Davey's Lanes bowling set up at New Lenox, is the man who is prepared to build bowling lanes and a lounge if the zoning is allowed. He estimates the investment at approximately $450,000.

There would be 16 alleys in the set-up, Davidson said, which would make it one of the larger units of its kind in the area.

Principal objectors to the B-2 classification were the board and administrators of Lincoln-Way high school. A. Hunter Chapman, school superintendent, who with Scherill Weichbrodt as attorney for the board, and C. L. Klasing, a board member, pointed out that the school district had voiced objections to similar petitions previously. The school has no objections to the bowling alleys.

Other objectors included Harold Dailey, commander of the VFW post at New Lenox; Mrs. James Ezell and Ray Wilhelm. Wilhelm questioned the setting of a precedent but was told the zoning board considered each case before it independently. Davidson said that with such a large investment necessary to build and equip a bowling alley today it is necessary to have a liquor license. He told the commission that when junior bowlers were there no liquor would be sold.

Attorney Donald Wise was at the hearing as counsel for Ruthenbeck and Davidson, Architect Levon Seron, who is in charge of plans for the proposed bowling lanes, was also present.

Break Ground For New Catholic High School

Groundbreaking ceremonies for the new co-educational Providence Brothers high school in New Lenox township were held the afternoon of Memorial day with the Most Rev. Martin D. McNamara, Bishop of Joliet, presiding.

The new school which is designed to accommodate 800 students—400 girls and 400 boys—is to be located on the south side of U. S. 30, east of the North Illinois Gas Co. divisional headquarters. It is expected to be completed in time for the opening of the 1962-63 school year.

The school is to be a one-story structure with approximately 63,000 square feet of floor space.

The Sisters of Providence will apply the staff for the girl's division while teachers for the boys will come from the order of Christian Brothers. In some instances, it was said, joint use of facilities will be required.

Cost of the structures will be borne by the Joliet diocese and the Christian Brothers.

A one-story home to house 16 brothers is to be built at the west edge of the school property, nearest the gas company property.

Bids for construction of the school were opened recently at Lewis college and referred to the architect, B. J. Knowles, of St. Paul, and Gousman and Moore, Inc., consulting engineers.

At the ceremonies on Memorial Day, Bishop McNamara blessed the site and turned the first shovelful of earth. Also participating in the actual breaking of the ground were Brother Joel Damian, F.S.C., auxiliary provincial of the St. Louis province, and Sister Marie Loretta, S. P. present principal of Providence high school. The invocation was given by the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Romeo R. Blanchette, P.A., vicar general of the Joliet diocese.

Frankfort Village Board Wage War On Weeds

Warm weather and recent rains have been a big stimulant to the weed crop and this unwanted growth has been shooting up at such a rapid pace that the Frankfort village board has taken official notice of it.

All property owners in Frankfort are reminded by the board that unkempt lots are not only offensive from an esthetic point of view but there is also a practical side—it can be expensive.

If lot owners don't mow them the village can have the weeds cut and the owner billed. The village has means, it was pointed out, for collecting such bills but officials hope it won't come to that stage.

A petition signed by Evelyn Goetsch, of 305 Locust st., and 33 other residents of Lincoln Meadows, urging that property owners there be required to keep their lots—vacant and occupied—free of weeds, was presented to the village board Monday night.

"We regret that such a petition had to be filed," said Mayor George Sangmeister. "Fortunately most people keep their lots mowed but unfortunately there are a few who don't and it only needs a few to affect an entire neighborhood. Action will be taken to correct this situation. And it will not be limited to Lincoln Meadows, it will be applied in all sections of the village where it is needed."

A recommendation by the Frankfort plan commission relative to the petition of Howard Osmus for re-subdivision of a lot he owns on 93rd ave. in the Arthur T. McIntosh Keane Ave. Estates, was presented to the Village board Monday night.

The lot is 120 by 400 feet. Osmus would re-subdivide it into four lots, each with 100-foot frontage.

He asked that the provisions of the village subdivision ordinance requiring sidewalks, curbs and gutters be waived. The plan commission agreed to that on the grounds that there is no potential development seen for that particular spot.

The commission, however, added that its recommendation of approval of the request for re-subdividing the lot was contingent upon the owner complying with all the requirements for half acre tracts that cannot be served by a central sewer system. In such cases the land is subjected to tests to determine if a septic tank system would be feasible. The lot in question is outside the village but is within the mile and a half over which the village exercises jurisdiction in subdividing matters. The board withheld action pending further study of the request.

The board gave formal permission to the Bobzin-Swinford post of the American Legion to use the Frankfort Community park for the Legion's annual homecoming attractions. The homecoming this year is slated for July 27, 28, 29, and 30.

Preceding the next meeting of the village board (June 19) the members will inspect the sewage disposal plant, inside and out. The engineer, Robert Hamilton, will accompany the board. Some of the operations of the plant have given trouble, it was reported at the meeting, which is the reason for the planned visit. The plant has not been accepted yet by the village.

Amvets Post Set Carnival June 15-18

Commander Wilbur Schalk of the Amvets Five Point post # 183 of Mokena announces the organization will hold a four day carnival with various games and rides, starting June 15, 16, 17 and 18.

The carnival to be located on Wolf and LaPorte roads will feature the following rides: ferris wheel, tilt-a-whirl, merry go-round and kiddies pony rides.

Highlighting the carnival will be parade Sunday, June 18 at 1:00 p.m. Any individual or groups wishing to participate in the event such as a marching unit, floats, or musical corps or bands are asked to contact Norval Robinson, parade chairman or Wilbur Schalk, commander.

The post will award three savings bond prizes; one $50 and two $25 denomination; also a $500 cash prize. These will be distributed Sunday evening at 11:00 p.m.

Proceeds from this affair will be used toward a building fund for the Post and Auxiliary.

Mokena Police Chief Confined In Hospital

Chief of police of Mokena, Vernon Bormet, is a patient in St. Joseph's hospital, Joliet after becoming ill in his home last Friday morning.

When he became short of breath and suffering pain his wife took him to the office of Dr. Leo J. Mursky, New Lenox where it was thought he was suffering a possible heart attack and was removed to the hospital by Baskerville ambulance.

After x-rays, examinations and tests it is now believed he has a perforated ulcer.

Mr. Bormet's job as Chief of police officially started June 1.

with the Phillips company at Berwyn. The course included the use of various up-to-date devices such as dyna-vision, an instant motor analyzer used in tune-ups, and an electronic wheel balancer.

Mr. Knippel was born and raised in Frankfort and resides there with his wife and three children.

Frankfort Votes On $145,000 School Bond Issue Saturday

Voters of the Frankfort grade school district will go to the polls Saturday June 10, to again ballot on a $145,000 bond issue to meet the cost of an addition to the present school building.

The school, on Oregon street, will serve as the polling place. The poll will open at 12 noon and close at 7 p.m.

Voters do not need to be registered but they must be citizens and residents of Illinois for one year, the county 90 days and the school district 30 days.

The proposition was lost when it was submitted to the electorate at the regular school election last April. Since that time there has been a spirited campaign for and against the proposal.

Members of the board of education have endorsed the proposal and are hopeful of its approval.

One of the questions raised was whether the board should build an addition to the present school or build a new one on a site contributed by the developers of Connecticut Hills.

A spokesman for the board stated that the decision to build an addition rather than a new building was taken on advice of men considered experts in the planning and location of school plants; that it was believed the addition would better serve the needs now and for some years to come than would a new building.

There are many persons opposed to a bond issue at this time and they too have been seeking recruits for their side.

The proposition lost by 48 votes in April. There were 540 votes cast at that time, 288 no, 240 yes.

Fewer people went to the polls in the village of Frankfort in the special tax increase election held a couple of weeks ago, 414 and carried the proposal 214 to 200.

There is a strong effort being made to get out a big vote so that whatever the outcome it will show the will of the majority.

IT'S HAPPENED—Maple street, also known as Marley road, or 187th street that connects Marley with U. S. 6 and Wolf road, has been widened and blacktopped. The job, a county and state aid project, has been in the works for several years but those who live along the highway said it was worth waiting for. It was a gravel road before and while it had bottom it also had a lot of chuck-holes and in dry weather was quite dusty. The new link will give Mokena residents a closer access to U. S. 6 and makes it easy for Marley residents to come to Mokena.

Arbury Hills

State To Conduct Traffic Survey At A. H. Entrance

MRS. EDWARD HOVI
Tel. Mokena 5740

In response to a request by the Safety Committee of the Arbury Hills Civic Association, to the district engineer of the State Highway Department, there now is a traffic survey being conducted on state route 45 adjacent to the entrances to Arbury Hills. This survey is being made to ascertain the advisability of lowering the speed limit thru the area, and/or posting traffic control signs.

Now that school is out, auto drivers are asked to be particularly careful for young children who may dart out on the streets without thinking. If every driver would keep his speed at 20 miles per hour or less, his loss of time would be unnoticeable, but a tragedy could be averted.

At a card party recently sponsored by the kindergarten association Mrs. George Peterson was awarded the main prize of the evening and Mrs. Archie Estes and Mrs. Dennis won the consolation prizes.

The school crossing safety signs, which had been donated to the Civic Association, have now been received and will be posted in strategic locations in Arbury Hills as soon as possible.

The civic association has donated to the school, some sports equipment, a basketball and a set of horseshoes; and, in addition, three dictionaries and a map of the United States.

The baby sitters cooperative of Arbury Hills will hold its regular monthly meeting next Thursday, June 15 in the home of Mrs. Jack Cook of 9424 West Pine Street.

The bingo club met last Thursday in the home of Mrs. Arthur Fife of 9431 West Birch Street. There were twelve present for the evening's enjoyment, and the hostesses gift was won by Mrs. Charles Hecht of 9515 West Willow Lane, who had come as a guest for the evening. Mrs. Charles Hecht is fortunate enough now to become a new member, since there have been drop outs in the group.

The next meeting of the Bingo Club will be held in the home of Mrs. Vernon Crowder of 9448 West Birch Street on July 6.

Birch Street received two new families about two weeks ago. They moved in within a day of each other, and now live side-by-side.

At 9507 West Birch Street we now have George and Helen Koehler who came here from Cicero. They have two boys, Mike who is four and one-half and Bobby who is two and one-half. George works at Kenron Awning and Window Corporation in Cicero.

Right next door are the Alaimo's at 9513 West Birch Street who moved here from Joliet. Joseph and Bernice Alaimo have three children; Patricia Ann who is married and has her own place, and then Jean who is thirteen and now attending a private Lutheran School. Jean will be in the eighth grade at the Summit Hill School in Arbury Hills in the fall. And lastly there is Robert Joseph (Bobby Joe) who is two. Joseph has been a real estate salesman in the Joliet area for a number of years.

Byron and Henrietta Skinner moved here from the south side of Chicago almost a month ago, and are now living at 19339 South Oak Street with their twins Byron and Judy who are six and in first grade, and their baby Kenneth who is seven months old. The three children all have the same birthday, when little Kenneth managed to arrive exactly six years after the twins. Byron is an electrician at International Harvester company in Hinsdale.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Plumly of 19333 South Oak Street left on their vacation yesterday (Wednesday) with their two boys. Their two and one-half week will take them first of all to Gettysburg, Pennsylvania and then on to Winchester, Virginia to see some of the Plumly clan; after a visit there they will journey on to Washington, D. C., to see a brother. On the return trip they will stop in Columbus, Ohio for still more family fare. By the time they get home, it's pretty certain that they will need a vacation to recuperate.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Rognlie had weekend guests arrive from Atlanta, Ga., on their way to Milwaukee, Wis. Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Rognlie met Mr. and Mrs. Sven Hansen while living in Atlanta. Mr. and Mrs. Sven Hansen are originally from Denmark.

Marvin Rognlie are leaving on Monday for their vacation. They plan on going to Washington, D. C. and then on to Atlanta.

John F. Dean, Mrs. Archie Estes' father came in from his home in Fort Worth, Texas to visit at the Estes' home at 19345 South Oak Street. It was his first trip up here to visit; he arrived by train at Joliet. The

THE FLAMELESS ELECTRIC KITCHEN

WHEN YOU MODERNIZE YOUR KITCHEN, REMEMBER...

A flameless electric kitchen won't go out of date

The lady above demonstrates the amazing flexibility of a flameless electric kitchen. Because there are no fuel pipes to get in the way, she can have her automatic electric dryer wherever she wants it. There are no vents to install, no pilot to burn. So the entire laundry unit can fit into a small area behind attractive sliding doors.

Of course, the electric range is the heart of every flameless electric kitchen. With it, you can cook your meals without overheating your kitchen (or yourself). The oven is insulated on all six sides, not just five. Hardly any heat escapes. The surface units transfer heat directly into pans and into foods—not into your kitchen. And because electric ranges burn no fuel, no dirt is created. Your kitchen (and everything in it) stays clean twice as long.

Before you spend a penny on kitchen remodeling, get a professionally-prepared plan based on your specific needs and budget. An experienced kitchen specialist can show you how imaginative planning can save you steps and eliminate unnecessary bending and reaching. He can also help you work out color schemes and lighting effects and help solve storage problems.

For the names and addresses of kitchen modernization specialists in your area, call your nearest Public Service Company office.

Federal Aid For Schools Can Be Dangerous

Proponents of federal aid for education have captured the senate and express confidence of winning the house of representatives in Congress in support of the Administration supported measures which if adopted will eventually put the operation and management of our school system in the hands of Washington bureaucrats.

We know that Congress is in receipt of protests against this move for national controls over our educational systems but it appears that the question is becoming one of what the Administration wants and the public be danged.

Herman Lindholm, of Naperville, president farm bureau directors to encourage their neighbors and friends to write their congressmen in opposition to the federal aid of education bills.

We hope that enough such mail comes from all sections of the country to hold the lower house in line. If the representatives say "NO" and stick to it the measure cannot pass.

The bills, which have had committee approval in both houses, would provide more than $3 billion dollars for a purpose for which it is not needed.

The farm bureau opposes federal aid to schools, the Illinois president pointed out, because it will lead to federal regulation and destroy local initiative and local control.

The states and local communities have been doing a good job in meeting school needs. Information dug up by a policy committee of which U. S. Senator Styles Bridges is chairman gives considerable light on the subject and does much to debunk the claims of the "big government" addicts who would put the schools under bureaucratic control.

The information at hand deals with how the schools fared in the eight-year period between the school years of 1952-53 and 1960-61. Here are some of the facts recorded:

"The number of pupils increased 35%, whereas the instructional staff increased 45%."

"The number of pupils declined from 26.2 to 24.4% (in 1930 the number of pupils per teacher was 29.2%; in 1900 it was 35.6)."

"The average teachers' salary increased 52% as compared to a 30% increase in per capita personal income as a whole and 34% in industrial wages."

"The addition of 9.7 million children to the school populations required an addition 347,000 classrooms at the rate of 28 children per classroom, whereas about half again as many -- 507,500 -- were actually constructed."

"These eight years witnessed tremendous progress in improving school support, building new classrooms, hiring new teachers, raising teachers' salaries. . . This is a proud record of achievement, indeed."

Such facts indicate clearly more federal encroachment on education, with bureaucratic controls that would come, is unneeded, unjustified and dangerous.

Approximately 50 vegetable growers attended the first twilight meeting held during the fourth week in May. A battery of specialists from the University of Illinois College of Agriculture were on hand to answer growers' questions pertaining to pest control, crop varieties, weed and disease control, and other production problems.

Our thanks to Rich Biesboer on whose farm the weed control plot is located, for allowing the vegetable growers to meet there and get acquainted with the herbicides being tested.

Four new chemicals have been added to those under test at the weed control plot. As any of you who drive by the plot can see, one could hardly recommend some of these chemicals as they did severe damage to the onions. We have learned something from this plot; namely, certain chemicals cannot be used on onions that are up, at the rates at which they were applied. We hope for even better things and that we can find a chemical that we can use. Time will tell. You are free to watch this plot throughout the growing season.

The annual 4-H Keeping-Fit Field Day will be held Thursday, June 15, starting at 9 a.m., at Rich Township High School. All 4-H members are invited to participate in this health activity.

We continue to receive calls from people wishing to visit a farm. The Community Center Foundation, 127th and South-west Highway, Palos Park, phone: Gibson 8-0780, will conduct tours of their farm for groups. Call Frank Sanders to make arrangements.

The automatic counter on our telephone answering instrument indicates quite a number of you are calling "Homeowners' Hints". For those of you who haven't heard about it, try dialing Kellogg 2-4329. Tuesday, Wednesday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday, you will receive a timely tip on care and maintenance of lawn and home grounds plantings. Monday you will receive a recorded tip for the lady of the house, and on Thursday the University of Illinois Best Food Buy, prepared by economists who regularly survey the supply. From those of you who call regularly, we would appreciate hearing your comments regarding this service. We would like to know about its value as well as any suggestions for topics which have not been previously covered.

READ JOHN 5:31-39

Blessed is he that readeth, and they that hear the words of this prophecy, and keep those things which are written therein: for the time is at hand, (Revelation 1:3).

During the past two years in my nursing field, I have been through many temptations and hardships. It was so great a burden on me that I almost forgot there was a God. Suddenly, a change came to my mind; instead of studying my lessons one rainy night, I took my Bible and opened it to the book of Revelation. After reading that part of the Bible, I was frightened because I had forgotten God's book which is meant to be everybody's guide. Accepting the Lord as my Savior and reading the Bible as my guidebook, I have now become very happy. Many changes have come into my life since then. I have overcome the many temptations that confronted me. The Bible is the key to all my doings. My advice is to believe in Jesus and read the Bible every day.

On Second Thot

By GLENN F. LOGAN

Being a merchant today is a big job. He has more irons in the fire than an old time blacksmith.

There was a time when a man running a store had to concentrate only on his line. Nowadays only a genius or the seventh son of a seventh son could tell where his line begins or where it ends.

We haven't read any books on the subject but would be inclined to hazard a guess that the general store which dissolved into the department store was by Necessity out of Trading Post.

There are still quite a number of real, genuine general stores about the country and of course even more of the synthetic type.

There used to be a real, sure enough general store at Twin Lakes, Wis., but whether it is still operating as it did or has become a synthetic is not known to your correspondent. When we knew it one could get groceries, produce, clothing, meat, ice cream sodas, hardware, farming implements, grave stones, furniture, floor coverings, radios, auto tires, spark plugs, fan belts, oil lamps, lamp chimneys, refrigerators, washing machines, garden tools and equipment, seed, fertilizer, axes, peavys, saws, shoes and action on nickel, dime and quarter slot machines. One also could get stamps, aspirin, iodine and epsom salts.

Even the one-shot stores in highly touted shopping centers can't offer a wider range of merchandise.

In all fairness to the modern one-shotter emporium, however, it must be admitted that few suburbanites put peavys, lamp chimneys, or grave stones on their regular weekly shopping lists so there is no real necessity for stocking such items.

Chain executives ride herd on inventories with a stern eye. Hard-to-sell items are discarded to give way to new lines that may tempt the customer. If they don't, they too are eliminated. Much of this and the losses are eliminated too.

Guessing what the women will buy and buy in quantity is a tough assignment and one that produces ulcers and insomnia among those who try to anticipate their wants.

There are fields in which the merchandising experts feel safe, cosmetics, children's toys and clothing, and do-it-yourself items. One can also add women's hats.

Even in periods of business recession, or go all the way and say depression--cosmetics are in demand, millinery too. Women get a lift getting a hair-do, buying a bit of perfume, or a new hat, psychologists say.

Men like a lift too--and many of them get it by buying power tools and do-it-yourself materials. They get added value by conning themselves that they are saving money.

It would be interesting sometime if one were to do research on this power-too-do-it-yourself business and arrive at some figure on the annual cost of hospital and medical treatment of those injured in their employment. . . Here a finger, there a thumb, a broken arm, a broken leg, severed tendons, a broken head, a broken neck.

There was a time when a shopper had to spend the better part of a day going from store to store -- that was when one got groceries at one place, meat at another, bread at a bakery, clothing at a store designed to serve such trade and so on. Not any more.

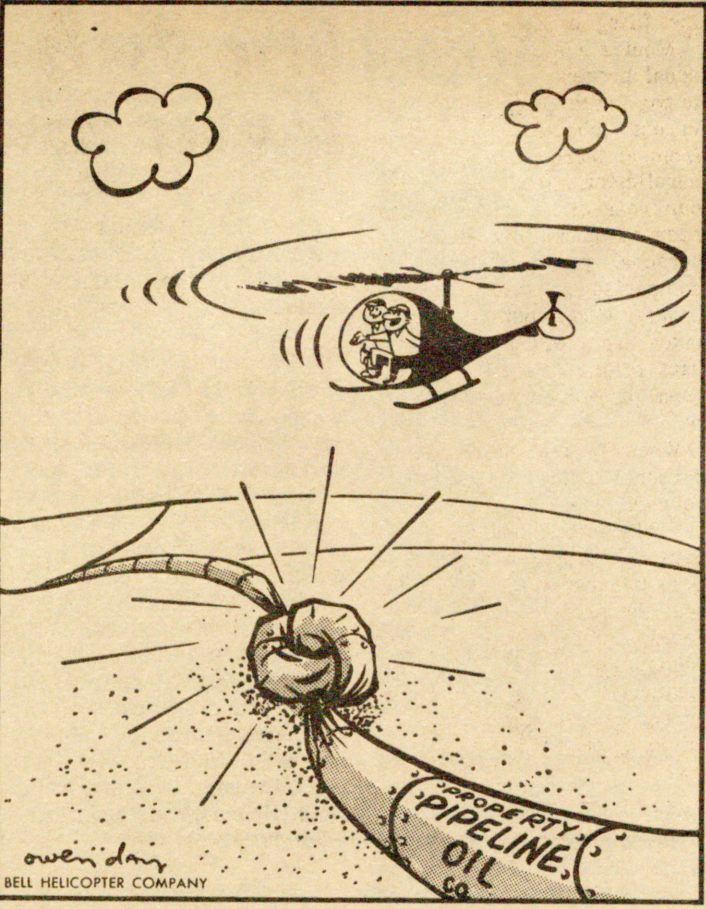

There is a drug chain with headquarters in Kansas City where one can buy electrical goods, auto accessories, dresses, men's clothing -- even drugs. They haven't put in groceries and meats yet but give them time.

There are still a few tobacco shops in Chicago, New York, Los Angeles and other large cities that specialize in pipes, cigars and tobaccos but they aren't simon pure either because they also sell razor blades and souvenirs.

Trying to guess what the public wants is not the only problem confronting retailers today. They have to compete against the discount house and now an outfit has been launched in the east that is prepared to sell at so-called factory prices. The gimmick in this one is that one has to have a membership card for the factory connection at about $20 a year.

A gay life, merchandising.

Letters To The Editor

FRANCIS RD. CROSSING

Dear Sir:

This letter is to report a very near accident on Sunday, May 28, at 12:45 p.m., at the same crossing on Francis Road, New Lenox township, that Patrick Horan was killed on Tuesday, May 16, 1961.

My sister, Mrs. Thomas Scouler, and myself, Mrs. Paul Francis, approached the crossing from the east, having just left our driveway which is about 1/8 of a mile from said crossing, and knowing that a train was due at this time, we were concerned as we had not heard the warning whistle. On reaching the track and looking both ways, we were stunned to find the train almost upon us. My sister applied the brakes and we stopped only five feet from the tracks. There had been no warning whistle to let one know a train was coming. Anyone not familiar with the train schedules would never have had a chance, but having lived here for eleven years we know about when the trains are due.

After the accident at Christmas of 1959, and the one two weeks ago, how many more people must lose their lives before you install lights at this dangerous crossing?

I intend to send a copy of this letter to the County Road Commissioner, and to the New Lenox Press to bring this matter to the public's attention.

Sincerely yours,
MRS. PAUL FRANCIS

(Ed. Note: This letter was sent to the Wabash railroad and a copy sent to this paper. A copy also was sent to the County Highway Department. There is no excuse for the Wabash not installing flasher signals at this crossing.)

MORE ON MAGISTRATE

Dear Sir:

Ever since the Mokena village election in which, many voters believe, a man was elected contrary to the laws of our state, and as far as Peter Marshall is concerned, I believe if he were living today, he would surely have preached from his pulpit against what happened in Mokena on April 23, the same as he did against wrongs that were prevalent in his day.

First, let's repeat again the law as pertains to Dram Shops according to the state of Illinois: Sec. 120, under heading "Persons ineligible to license: No license of any kind issued by the state commission or any local commission shall be issued to: paragraph 11 -- A person whose place of business is conducted by a manager or agent unless said manager or agent possesses the same qualifications required of the licensee; Par. 13 -- A person who does not own the premises for which a license is sought, or does not have a lease thereon for the full period for which the license is to be issued; Par. 14 -- Any law enforcing public official, any mayor, alderman, or member of the city council or commission, any president of the village board of trustees, any member of a village board of trustees, or any president or member of a county board; and no such official shall be interested in any way either directly or indirectly, in the manufacture, sale or distribution of alcoholic liquor."

I would ask the indulgence of the Editor of The News-Bulletin, for the space to publish the letter, signed by Jim Surovick, mailed to many in the village of Mokena the day before the village election: "Voters of Mokena: Let's deal in facts! Contrary to the repeated, so called legal opinions, my candidacy for police magistrate is a genuine, legal and honest effort on my part to serve the citizens of Mokena. "There have been many statements by capable, competent men in either responsible positions, or public offices who have stated that I could, if elected, be sworn into the office of police magistrate.

"The statement, as expressed in the Mokena News-Bulletin, by the village attorney, is merely his opinion and not a judge's ruling applicable to this specific instance. Only after a qualified judge rules on the issue and all appeals are exhausted does an interpretation of an ordinance or law become a legal fact.

"If elected I would fully comply with all applicable laws."

(Signed) James Surovick

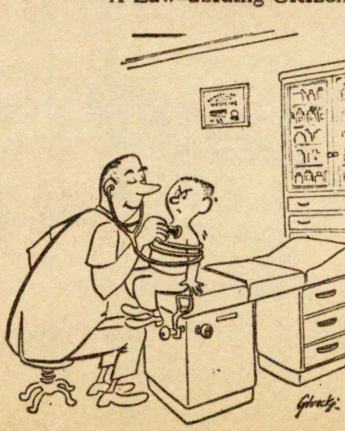

"Perhaps we have another Peter Marshall, in Mokena, for the Sunday following this much contested election, mostly on the office of Police Magistrate, for which Jim Surovick ran as candidate on the Independent No. 2 ticket, the Rev. Robert King, pastor of the Mokena Methodist church, chose as his sermon subject, "The Gospel and Social Reform". His texts were taken from Proverbs, 28th chapter the first ten verses. A few excerpts from it reads: "They that forsake the law praise the wicked. . . Whose keepeth the LAW is a wise son. . . he that turneth away his ear from hearing the LAW even his prayer shall be abomination. . . " and from Rev. King's New Testament text, 2nd Corinthians chapter 4, verses 1-6, in part reads: "Therefore seeing we have this ministry . . . have renounced the hidden things of dishonesty, not walking in craftiness, nor handling the word of God deceitfully, but by manifestation of the truth. . . May I suggest to get out your bibles and read it all.

The Rev. Mr. King mentioned the concern people have for law and how laws are being broken for instance in areas where the highways are posted for 35 miles an hour, often drivers of cars exceed that speed and many other common law violations. After dealing to some extent on obeying the laws of our state and country, the Rev. Mr. King stated "and to think there were 246 people in our village who voted last Tuesday for a candidate who according to the law was not qualified to hold office."

After reading Mr. Surovick's letter, there were different comments about it. Some said, "It is intimidating." "What does he care for our village, seems he would take pleasure in dragging the village from one judge, (a qualified judge, does he mean some judges are not qualified?) to another?" As long as Mr. Surovick mentions opinions, others have opinions also, that is their right.

To me it seems that one reason the Dram Shop law has been developed, is for the protection of the public at large. Sometimes there is a temptation for the man or woman who holds a public office of maintains a community establishment, to possibly circumvent an established law.

A PUBLIC SERVICE OF
ILLINOIS STATE BAR ASSOCIATION
IN COOPERATION WITH THIS NEWSPAPER

The purchase of a home is probably the largest single investment that the average person makes during his lifetime. There are many dangers involved in this apparently simple transaction. The few rules of thumb outlined below are suggested so that you, as a home-buyer, will be able to enjoy your new home without annoyance and unexpected expenditure, and resell without difficulty.

FIRST DOCUMENT CRUCIAL

After the prospective purchaser decides to buy, and the price is agreed upon, the question of a contract arises. The buyer is often urged to sign a paper immediately, and at the same time to make a cash deposit. He may be told by the owner or agent that the paper is merely a form of "binder" which everyone uses. It usually consists of an offer to purchase, and if it is accepted by the seller, a binding contract will be created even though the buyer has been told that a "contract" will be signed later.

That first paper establishes many of the buyer's most important rights and duties in the transaction, and if it does not adequately protect his interests, he may find that what appeared to be an attractive purchase is in fact a serious financial liability.

The following are some of the more important things a buyer should look for in the contract of purchase.

DESCRIPTION

The contract should contain the technical legal description of the property and not merely a street number. The purchaser should make certain that all structures on the land are inside the lot lines, and that there are no structures encroaching from adjoining lots.

PAYMENT PROVISIONS

The contract should set out the purchase price and the amount of any money deposited in connection with the contract. The agreed method of payment should be stated clearly. Should the buyer intend to borrow part of the purchase price, the contract should provide for cancellation and return of the cash deposit if he is unable to obtain a loan on satisfactory terms. Also, if the buyer intends to take over an existing mortgage, he should carefully examine the terms of the mortgage in advance.

The contract should require the seller to provide an abstract of title within a specified time. But the buyer cannot rely on the abstract alone. It must be examined by an attorney who will render an opinion on the present quality of title.

SHOULD SPECIFY DEED
The contract should specify the type of deed the buyer is to receive. If the seller conveys by "warranty deed," he promises to protect the buyer if the buyer does not receive the entire possession and title which the deed is supposed to convey. Much less protection is afforded by a "quit-claim deed." As a general rule, a buyer should not agree to accept anything but a warranty deed, without the advice of an attorney.

It is important that the contract specify the date the buyer is to take possession of the house. If he is delayed in acquiring possession, he may be subjected to heavy additional expenses. A provision allowing the purchaser to withhold a part of the purchase price or cash payment until he is in possession will help to protect him on this point.

PERSONAL PROPERTY TROUBLES

A frequent source of difficulty is the question of personal property to be sold with the house such as carpeting, storm windows, stone, etc. The contract should list the property to go to the buyer and that to go to the seller. The buyer should also check for recent improvements on the land, or the delivery of material to the premises, which might be the basis for a contractor's lien he would have to pay to prevent foreclosure.

Finally, the contract should set up a reasonable time schedule for the completion of the sale. Dates for furnishing evidence of title by the seller, the time allowed to the seller to settle any objections to title, and the date for the closing, should be specified. The contract, as well as the deed, should be signed by the seller and if he is married by his wife also.

(This column is written to inform and not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without consulting his attorney. Even a slight difference in the facts may change the result under the law.)

Hints For Homeowners

By: JAMES FIZZELL, ASS'T. FARM ADVISER

The presence of moss in lawns can be due to a number of factors, all of which can be traced to environmental or soil conditions, that are detrimental to the growth of turf grasses.

If moss is present in a lawn it is a good indication that something is preventing the grass from growing. The most common factor is depleted soil. Moss is much better adapted to growing in poor soil than grass. Fertilizing with a good lawn fertilizer in spring and early fall will help the grass to grow and eliminate the moss.

Poor drainage can also be responsible for moss. Low spots in the lawn should be filled in to provide natural runoff of water. In some cases, tile will be necessary to get proper drainage.

Excessive shade is a factor which is common in city lawns. Thinning tree branches can be helpful, but a grass such as creeping red fescue or Poa trivialis which is adapted to shaded areas should be sown.

Few lawn grasses grow well in acid soil. The only way to tell if soil is acid is to have it tested. Contact the Farm Bureau Office in Tinley Park for information on soil testing. If the soil is acid, the results of the test will give instructions on how to correct the situation with lime.

In areas where there is a dense mat of moss on the lawn, it should be killed by spraying with a 5% solution of iron sulfate.

This will stop the moss from growing while the lawn grasses become established provided that the factors responsible for the moss are remedied.

Conversion of salt water to fresh water has long been the dream of many parts of the world. This problem is now becoming important in certain areas of the U.S.A.

The hope of conversion of salt water to fresh water goes back into antiquity. Conversion of small amounts of salt water has been going on for many years, but costs have been too high.

In the past few years our government has become interested to the extent of making de-salting of water a major scientific objective.

The Chicago Bridge & Iron Co. has announced the successful completion of an eight-day test to produce fresh water at a plant in Freeport, Texas, which was built for the Interior Department Office of Saline Water. The plant was built to produce one million gallons of fresh water daily at a cost of less than $1 per thousand gallons. The water is going to Freeport and two Dow Chemical Co. plants.

Chicago Bridge & Iron announcement stated that construction of the conversion plant started July 11, 1960 and that 302 days later, fresh water was produced.

American Machine & Foundry Co. announced that it had de-salting as a major objective. The firm already has such equipment being used in naval applications.

Evaporation and distillation are ancient methods, but ordinarily are too expensive and too slow. A price of 60 cents per thousand gallons is said to be attractive.

It is rather likely that a commercially acceptable de-salting process will be developed in the near future. The market would be large and its use in our cold war efforts important.

Some time ago this column carried excerpts of a research report on the change in spending habits which has come about thru shorter hours and increasing interest in those areas other than food, clothing and other necessities.

The department of commerce has completed a study of production gains in major industrial and service fields. The U. S. News & World Report also has an article of the same subject.

Employment by local, state and national government agencies has been rising steadily and continues to do so.

Utilities, both gas and electric, are growing at the rate of about 10 per cent per year. The rate of growth in use of electrical appliances, is expected to bring about an even greater rate of growth.

The electronic industry has had spectacular growth and now ranks fourth in manufacturing. A number of analysts expect this to be close to first in rank within ten or fifteen years. The electronic computer field which is usually assumed to have had its start in 1953 with about $10 million sales, had reached almost $400 million by the end of 1959 and is expected to show continued spectacular gains.

Food packaging and processing is expected to bring out a number of innovations.

Analysts believe the business areas which have shown the greatest gains in the past ten years, are expected to lead the way in the next ten years.

Production gains of 100 per cent or more are in aircraft, missiles, and transportation, utilities, chemicals, drugs, etc., scientific instruments, and electronic and electrical appliances. Production gains of 50 to 100 per cent are found in paper, furniture, clay, glass and stone; petroleum; machine tools; fabricated metals; and steel and other primary metals.

Personal Tax Quite Legal And Most Important, Says Attorney

By BERT G. ENGELMAN
(Asst. States Atty. Will Co. Tax Division)

Not many of us like to pay taxes, no matter what their disguise. We do, however, recognize the fact that taxes are a necessary evil if we are to receive community benefits. One of these benefits is the education of our children. I am sure that no one desires to live in a community where free, public education is not provided for its youth; education is the foundation of our community.

One of our chief sources of revenue is the personal property tax. This sum varies slightly and may be a little more or less depending upon your township. Approximately 75% of personal property taxes paid goes to our public schools; for the education of our youth.

There is much comment to the effect that personal property tax is unfair, not constitutional, that same does not have to be paid, and that only real estate taxes should be paid; this is not true. Personal property taxation is pursuant to the statutes of the state of Illinois, and this tax is collected by counties in the entire state. A tax only against the real estate owners would be fine except a large portion of the children attending school came from families who do not own real estate. As this is the case it is unfair to have the entire burden of educating our youth on the shoulders of real estate owners. In addition, the personal property owned in Illinois far exceeds the value of the real estate.

Income tax is a proposed replacement for the personal property tax. But is it the answer? The income tax requires the establishment of an administrative agency in Springfield and then through each county. The personal property tax stays in the county, and goes direct to its target without the vast administrative cost of income tax. In addition, an income tax is an open end tax, as we are all aware, from our federal income tax and can be easily increased to obtain additional revenue. Through history there have been few taxes eliminated, and if we do have an income tax we have no guarantee that personal property tax will be removed.

In order to permit you to have a better understanding of this tax, we feel you should know how the tax is set up. Personal property tax is statutory, in that, it is created by the legislature. Under these provisions the personal property of each county is assessed by the township assessor. He evaluates your property and turns this evaluation in to your county treasurer, who records it in the tax books. This evaluation is set forth by the state. The county clerk then applies the rates based on the levies made by the taxing bodies to this evaluation, which determines your personal property tax. Then the treasurer sends out bills. He has no further duty until the taxes are delinquent as the township tax collector must collect the taxes. After the taxes are delinquent, he must proceed to collect them with the help of the state's attorney's office. There is a statutory penalty for taxes that are delinquent.

If you are not satisfied with your personal property tax bill and feel it is unfair, the law sets forth a procedure for adjustment. The taxes must be paid in full under protest. Then a petition must be filed with the Board of Review within a prescribed time which can be obtained from the clerk in the treasurer's office. The law will not permit the treasurer to adjust assessments on taxes without authority from the board of review. If he does so, his bond as treasurer is in jeopardy. After the decision of the board of review, one can file a complaint with the county court if the decision is not satisfactory within one year after the tax due date. This procedure must be followed and if it is not followed, the delinquent tax payer under the law has waived his rights of protest.

Now there are certain cases in which the taxpayer is unable to pay. If a person is destitute, he or she can file a poor person's affidavit under oath. There is however a penalty for the filing of a false affidavit.

Monies collected from personal property taxes will help to pay for the needed expansion in our schools which results from an increase in our school enrollment. It is possible that our real estate taxes will be reduced upon full collection of personal property taxes. In comparison to our neighboring county, Cook, our real estate taxes are low. This is due in part to the collection of personal property tax in Will county.

When people speak against personal property taxes, ask yourself these four questions: 1. Why is this person against personal property taxes? 2. Does he have children? 3. How does he propose to obtain the necessary revenue to support schools and the other local government? 4. What does this person have to gain by trying to influence people not to pay their tax?

William Colgan who resides at 814 Rowell ave., Joliet, has been accepted by Iowa State university for their summer institute in earth science. During the six weeks on campus the lectures and discussions will cover the astronomical relationships of the earth, internal and external earth processes, and methods of investigating the history of the earth and the life upon it. The three weeks of the campus will consist of field studies in the Black Hills, at the Iowa State university Geology Camp at Shell, Wyoming and Yellowstone National Park.

Mr. Colgan is a graduate of Joliet township high school and Junior College completing his bachelor's degree along with additional graduate work at Northern Illinois university. Atty. Gen. Rules On Powers Of Magistrates

An opinion by the attorney general of Illinois, William G. Clark in response to questions by Will County State's Attorney Frank H. Masters, Jr., opens the door to more revenue for cities and villages that have police magistrates.

In the past it has been customary for police magistrates to transmit fines collected for offenses committed outside corporate limits to the county.

Broadly speaking there were so-called city cases, in which city or village ordinances were violated, or state cases when county or state laws were involved.

But according to the attorney general fees and costs of every kind collected by a police magistrate go to the municipal treasury.

Masters requested opinions on these two questions:

"Does a police magistrate have jurisdiction over a misdemeanor or in connection with misdemeanors that are committed beyond the territorial limits of the city or village in which such police magistrate is elected."

"If you answer to the foregoing question in the affirmative, and a police magistrate hears a case involving a misdemeanor committed in an unincorporated area, is such police magistrate required to pay his fee into the county treasury as would be the case if the case were heard by a justice of the peace?"

One section of the law quoted by the attorney general in his answer, states: "Justices of the peace, police magistrates and constables shall be elected in and for such districts are, or may be, provided by law, and the jurisdiction of such justices of the peace and police magistrates shall be uniform."

Another section, in part, reads: "All laws relating to courts shall be general, and of uniform operation; and the organization, jurisdiction, powers, proceedings and practice of all courts, of the same class or grade, so far as regulated by law, and the force and effect of the process, judgments and decrees of such courts, severally, shall be uniform."

Clark also stated that the Illinois supreme court has ruled that the territorial jurisdiction of a justice of the peace is coextensive with the county in which he is elected. Under the constitution a police magistrate has the same jurisdiction as a justice of the peace and therefore, would have jurisdiction over misdemeanors committed anywhere in the county.

"Therefore," Clark stated in the opinion given Masters, "in answer to your specific question, a police magistrate has jurisdiction over statutory misdemeanors beyond the limits of the city or village in which such police magistrate is elected, if they are committed within the county in which the city or village is located... If the office of police magistrate exists or is created in any municipality, the corporate authorities shall fix an annual salary to be paid to such police magistrate. All fees and fines of any kind collected by police magistrates in civil and criminal cases and for all other kinds of services shall be paid over to the municipal treasurer on or before the 10th day of the month immediately following the month in which the collection was made."

What Won't They Think Of Next? Call Bell And See!

A group of volunteers in Morris, a community of 8,000, are enjoying some of the features of tomorrow's telephone service today.

When men's clothier Ben Bernstein wants to call home from his store, he dials "11" instead of the regular two letters and five figures for his residence. If he wants to talk to Tom West, publisher of the Morris Herald, he dials only "12".

If eight-year-old Kathy Ryder has trouble selecting a dress for school and wants advice from her mother who is preparing breakfast downstairs, she dials "13" — her mother's home code. The downstairs extension phone sends out three beeps which tells Mrs. Ryder someone in her family wants to talk to her.

When the McElvain family goes out for an evening, Jim McElvain doesn't have to worry about missing an important business call. He goes to this phone, dials a code number and all incoming calls are transferred automatically to Mrs. McElvain's parent's home.

These neat bits of telephone magic are among six special services the group of Morris customers are testing as part of the Bell System's field trial of the first all-electronic central office (ECO). The trial is a result of one of the most massive research projects ever undertaken by an American company.

Thru the use of gas tubes, a vast memory system and thousands of transistors and other solid state devices — which operate in millions of a second — ECO gives customers these and other unusual services.

In addition to abbreviated dialing, code calling within the home and the call transfer services mentioned above, three other telephone communications innovations are in use in the Morris trial. One routes incoming calls to another phone number when the called line is busy. The other two services cover additional methods of having calls transferred.

This test of the electronic central office in Morris — 65 miles southwest of Chicago — is being conducted by the Bell Telephone Laboratories, Whippany, N. J., in cooperation with Illinois Bell.

"Results of the trial, which began last November, are being used by the Laboratories' engineers to help them finalize the design of the first ECO production model," said William B. Quirk, switching system engineer for the laboratories. "The customer trial is supplying us with valuable information which can be obtained only under actual service conditions."

Results of the trial have been good. Since all of the required information from this field trial may be obtained by the end of the year, it is possible the trial may end next year.

More than 400 of Morris' 3500 customers are taking part in this trial with the addition of the final group of 180 customers.

After six months of full-time service under actual customer usage conditions, the Bell System engineers have verified the basic theories upon which ECO is based. Development of the first production model will utilize this information plus advances in technology since the Morris ECO was designed and built.

Western Electric, the manufacturing unit of the Bell System, will produce the first electronic central offices on an assembly line basis. The first of these models is expected to be in operation in 1965 in a town yet to be selected. From that time on ECO will be introduced gradually throughout the Bell System.

ECO is one of the most important single developments in the art of telephony since Alexander Graham Bell invented the phone. Basic research which led to the development of electronic switching was started by Bell Laboratories in the 1930's. Intensive work on the Morris ECO system began at Whippany in 1954.

Key to the ECO is its vast memory system which is capable of remembering every customer's telephone number, any special instructions pertaining to it and the condition of every customer's line.

At Morris all the memory for the system, which consists of 2.2 million bits of information, is stored on four photographic plates, each 10 inches by 12 1/2 inches.

Phones used by Morris trial customers emit an OBOE-like musical sound instead of the familiar bell and have dials which operate twice as fast as regular ones.

Vandalism At Tot's Playground

Vandalism reportedly took place recently at the tot's playground located in the old village park of Mokena near the three churches.

An unidentified resident states several teenage boys were seen at the playground. Damaged were two of the three canvas seat swings. One seat was slashed in half and the other seat was completely cut off the end and chains wound around the frame support of the swings.

Purchase of equipment for the playground and maintaining of same is a project of the Mokena Lions club. A member of the club states this is the second time the swings and other equipment have been damaged and if anyone has further information on the recent vandalism to contact a member of the club.

Blame Rain For Car Crash

Three motorists escaped injury last Thursday when their autos collided on Route 30, one mile east of Gougar road.

Fredrick Penn, 65, of 208 W. Haven Dr., New Lenox, attempted to pull off of the road, LaVerne Ulrich, 22, of 111 Roberts Rd., New Lenox, reduced the speed of his car to avoid hitting the Penn vehicle. In doing so, Ulrich's car was struck from the rear by a car driven by Gerald Sager, 37, of Park Forest.

After the collision, Ulrich's vehicle skidded on the wet pavement and struck the Penn car. Due to the wet pavement and bad driving conditions, no one was issued an arrest ticket.

Active Since 1927

Tinley Park Garden Club Looks Back On 34 Years Of Good Works

Our Cover ...

Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. LaTour, who live in Spring Creek Woods, near Lockport and Lemont were caught by the camera of Staff Photographer Bob MacDonald hard at work on their home and garden at 101 Spring Creek Road.

Our Special Thanks ...

Without the assistance and hard work of Mrs. Berenice Mullen of Lockport, and her special help with the pictures and stories of Garden Clubs in the Golden Triangle area, this issue would not have been possible. She is highly regarded in Will County as one of the most active garden club organizers as well as a hard-working member of more than one garden club.

Mrs. Rudolph (Clara) Hug, a charter member, has written a history of the Tinley Park Garden club, which should be of interest to all old timers and many newcomers.

The club was formed on a summer evening 34 years ago, when a group of ladies interest in flowers and gardening, met in the gift shop operated by the late Mrs. Wallace B. Combs.

The date was Aug. 24, 1927. The group elected officers and set the foundation for the operation of the club. The late Mrs. William Funk was the first president; Mrs. Combs, vice-president; and Mrs. Irma Schounsberg, secretary-treasurer.

The club meets in the home of a member the third Thursday of each month. The club symbol is the iris.

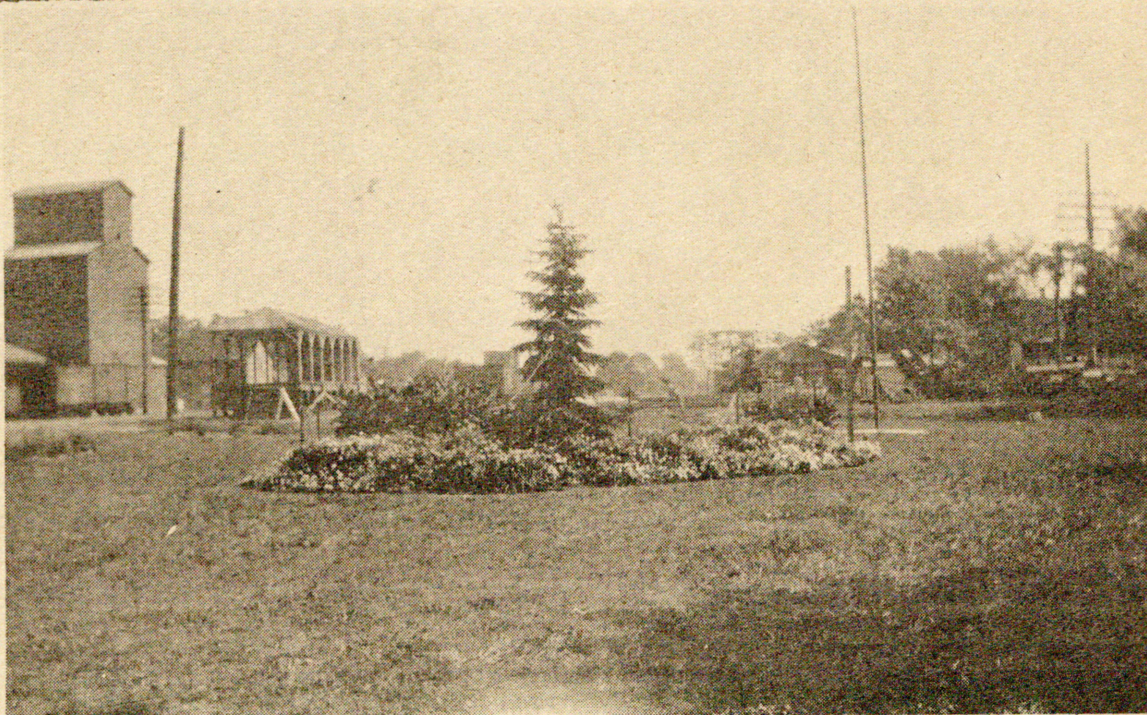

At the second meeting plans were made to hold a flower show in the Community Hall on Saturday, Sept. 17, 1927. This building, located across from Central school, has served many purposes thru the years, and is now a four-room apartment dwelling.

The Tinley Park Times newspaper was established around the same time by the late William Semmler. These first editions carried news of the flower show and other club activities.

The show was a big success and a focal point of interest was a rustic nook formed of wild flowers, gathered by the late Mesdames Alice and Florence Anderson.

The exhibits include flowers, fruits, vegetables, and grains. The exhibitors were from Tinley Park, Oak Forest, Midlothian, Mokena,

THIS BLUE SPRUCE was planted by the Tinley Park Garden club in 1927, at the location where the Rock Island depot now stands. The area was then called the "townsquare". Each year the tree was lighted at the Christmas season. The Garden club planted the flowers around the tree and the grassy lawn in the area. The members also cared for the site until it was removed to make way for the depot.

and Orland Park.

The school children participated with displays of flowers, vegetables, dish gardens, and posters.

The farmers too expressed interest in the show by displaying their products. A 10-lb. cabbage won a blue ribbon for the grower.

CHRISTMAS TREE

A surprise presentation of $100 was made to the club the evening of the show to purchase a live Christmas tree for the town. The money was obtained from ten local businessmen thru the efforts of the late Rudolph Hug.

The tree, a blue spruce, was dedicated on Oct. 22, 1927, when a program was presented by Mrs. John Swisher. Santa Claus and Mrs. Claus were there to present a gift to each child. The tree was lighted each Christmas season.

The Garden club members cared for the area, planting grass and flowers, until it had to be relinquished to the Rock Island Railroad for the site of the new depot.

ENTER STATE SHOW

The membership increased and the club entered the second Illinois Garden Club flower show held at the Sherman hotel, Chicago, March 24, 1928. The club was proud of their white ribbon award.

The Garden club was the first organization to contribute to the Tinley Park Recreation Commission when in 1929, it gave $150. Later, the club purchased ten maple trees which were planted in Memorial Park. A more recent donation was made to the Tinley Park Public Library for landscaping the grounds.

SEND FLOWERS

In the early days, bouquets of flowers were sent to Chicago via the Rock Island Railroad, starting with "Lilac Time", for the Chicago Plant, Fruit and Flower Exchange. Now the club delivers flowers to Oak Forest hospital.

Large numbers of magazines have been collected for a long time and delivered to Oak Forest by Mr. and Mrs. John Swisher. Mrs. Swisher still carries on this work with the help of members.

The club has also made gifts for children in Chicago hospitals and make bedside bags for a ladies ward at Oak Forest.

They have participated in five Tinley Park 4th of July parades by entering floats.

There have been eleven successful flower shows plus exhibits which have been entered in neighboring flower shows.

Mrs. R. J. Hug was in charge of a Junior Garden club for some time. There were 20 girls in the group and meetings were held at the school Saturdays from 2 to 4 p.m. Assisting her were the late Mrs. Funk, Hilding and Ernie Anderson, and Lulu Rogers.

The girls planted a large garden and bouquets were made to help the Mothers club send flowers to Chicago.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

Thru the years members have enjoyed social gatherings, picnics, and visits to points of interest. They have sponsored bake sales, a bazaar, a rummage sale, and plant sales to aid the treasury.

In April 1950 an Easter egg hunt was held in the woods of the Hilding Anderson home for the children of Tinley Park.

The club also sponsors an outdoor Christmas decoration contest each year. The members look forward to the Christmas parties, which have been held at the home of Mrs. John Swisher for the past 18 years. The evening is always an enjoyable event with the exchange of gifts, singing of carols, and the partaking of a banquet-style buffet supper.

In December 1953, a luncheon and holiday workshop was held with instructions for making wreaths and ornaments for Christmas, given by Mrs. Walter Eichelberg, who now lives in California.

The first year book of the club was prepared by Mrs. Swisher for 1943-44.

PAST PRESIDENTS

The presidents who have served thru the years are as follows: Mesdames William Funk, (deceased); R. J. Hug, Clara Goesel Studer, John Klepper, (deceased); John Werth, Frank Mancke, (deceased); Harry Mager, Charles Nielsen, John Swisher, and Edmund Moss.

Also, Mesdames Hilding Anderson, (deceased); Frank Baldwin, Walter Eichelberg, (both now in Cost Mesa, Calif.); Bob Memhard, (now in Ft. Lauderdale, Fla.); and Gervis Klepper. The present president is Mrs. John Panozzo.

A VISIT to an old friend, Mrs. Elizabeth Brueggeman, was made recently by three charter members of the Tinley Park Garden club, which was organized 34 years ago. Seated are Mrs. Brueggeman, also a charter member, and Mrs. Trudie Swisher. Standing are Mrs. Clara Hug and Mrs. Amanda Nielsen, reading left to right.

50th wedding anniversaries are: Mr. and Mrs. William Funk, Feb. 17, 1949; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Brueggeman, Oct. 27, 1954; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Goebel, Dec. 10, 1959; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Vogt; Sept. 25, 1960; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Mager, Jan. 4, 1961 and Mr. and Mrs. John Swisher, March 5, 1961.

Since the club was organized, 19 members have passed away. Every year on Decoration Day, the Garden club members remember the departed ones by placing plants on the graves of those in nearby cemeteries.

Mrs. Hug in concluding her story of the Tinley Park Garden club, expresses the hope that the members will continue for many years to enjoy friendship and sharing their love of flowers. As she so aptly states:

"For we are nearer God's Heart
In a garden,
Than anywhere else on earth."

Plainfield Garden Club Has Busy Year's Program

The Plainfield Garden Club was organized Oct. 26, 1939 when 11 members of the Garden Committee of the Plainfield Woman's Club decided to become a Garden Club. The minutes showed a membership of 32 by the end of the first year.

During the 21 continuous years of the club, many fine programs have been presented and worthwhile projects accomplished such as garden contests, gas station beautification, victory gardens during World War II and the planting of trees.

In 1953 the Garden Club joined with other garden clubs in Will County to form the Will County Federation of Garden Clubs which continues to be an active gardening group. In March 1958, the club voted to affiliate with the state and national garden council.

At the present time there are 43 members. Officers of the club are Mrs. Howard Phelps, president; Mrs. Oram Smith, vice president; Mrs. Frank Parks, Sr., secretary; Mrs. Ralph Snook, treasurer; and Mrs. John Cryder, program chairman.

The new officers began their year in April and this is their schedule of programs: April -- Mrs. Albrecht, an accredited judge, spoke on "What Everyone Needs to Know before Entering a Flower Show". May -- Mrs. Julius Westphal spoke on "Herbs, their Use and Delight". June -- Luncheon and tour of McCormick Gardens. July -- Annual picnic at the home of Mrs. William Ander-

New Pre-Painted Plywood Panels Are Inexpensive

A new low-cost all-purpose plywood construction panel has been developed with a tough factory finish--yet it is in the same price range as unpainted plywood.

Names "Ranch Panel", it has just been announced by Georgia-Pacific Corp. Guaranteed for exterior use, the new plywood has a baked-on factory coating that eliminates need for on-site painting.

It was developed as an all-purpose siding and utility panel, and is finding initial uses ranging from summer homes and vacation cabins to all types of farm buildings, fences and even sidewalk construction barricades. It also is being used as a new concept in rustic siding for modern city dwellings.

The "Ranch Panel" manufacturing process includes a light texturing, preheating the exterior fir plywood for maximum absorption of the new pigmented coating, and an automatic infra-red baking process that helps insure elimination of maintenance costs for years, G-P said.

The economy structural and decorative paneling has passed extensive field and laboratory tests under extreme weathering conditions, the report says. Initial production is in an attractive new "rural red" color that blends with natural surroundings.

Quality standards include all-Douglas-Fir veneers and guaranteed hot press exterior glue lines. It is being marketed in the same price range or below untreated exterior fir plywood with an A-grade paintable surface.

Production is in 5/16, 3/8, 1/2, 5/8 and 3/4-inch thickness in 4 X 8-foot panels. Nine and 10-foot panels also will be available on special order.

son. Program given by members of the club on "So you have a piece of Driftwood". August -- A brunch and program given by Mrs. Selma Jennings on "Let's Have a Party".

September -- Men's night and potluck supper with a program on landscaping and conservation. October -- Mrs. Josephine Wheeler to speak on "Along My Garden Path". November -- Mrs. Gailen Holloway to speak on "Christmas, Everywhere". She will decorate a member's home where the meeting is held and explain the decorations. December -- Annual Christmas party held at Manor Inn.

January -- A film on the growth and care of bulbs and mums. February -- "Flowers That Go to Your Head" given by a surprise guest. March -- "Planting for Your Arrangements". Interest in color and textures in gardens and arrangements by Mrs. Allan Marshall Jones of Hinsdale.

Some Wonderful Ideas For Outside And All Around To Help Your Home

It's easy to keep your lawn green all summer if you put in the proper equipment, like a sprinkler system installed in the ground itself. Sprays can be sunk into the earth, located so they cover the entire lawn. Or, if you have a big lawn, you should put in regular water outlets at convenient locations so your hose can be kept to a manageable length.

"Wrought iron" is actually steel in most cases, in another of its stylish forms. It adds charm to any home, when used for railings and to support porch and patio roofs. Many attractive, modern and traditional designs are available, ready-made. Yet for all its beauty and elegance, "wrought iron" is strong, long-lasting and moderately priced.

COVER BASEMENT WINDOWS

If basement window areas aren't covered, children and pets may fall in. You can eliminate this hazard, and cut down on ground moisture at the same time. First, it's a good idea to line the area with a steel window well. This prevents earth from tumbling down and reduces cellar moisture. Then, cover the well with a steel grating. It's so rugged you can stand on it, yet the open weave allows air and light to reach the basement.

Gutters and downspouts protect your home by preventing water from seeping into the structure, causing deterioration and serious damage, so it's important that they always be in good order -- clean and ready to function. Leaf guards installed over the gutters make sure that leaves are blown away by the wind and don't clog the downspouts.

CONTROL CRACKS

Extreme temperature changes, excessive ground moisture and similar conditions can raise serious problems for concrete slabs. The concrete may crack, for instance. This can be controlled by the installation of welded wire fabric, a heavy mesh made of thick steel wires woven and welded at every intersection.

Installed as concrete is poured for patios, driveways and walks, welded wire fabric "knits" a slab together, helps it absorb heavy loads and unifies the action of any slab when it expands and contracts due to temperature change.

GOOD FENCES HELP

It has been said, "Good fences make good neighbors", and they also make good parents. A well-fenced home protects your children against thoughtless dashes across the street, protects them against animals and questionable strangers. Fencing protects your property, too--no more neighborhood pooches in your geranium bed!

Speaking of protection, don't forget outdoor lighting. Prowlers almost never bother a home that is well-fenced and lighted and you can enjoy outdoor living after the sun goes down. A great variety of lighting fixtures are on the market: some with built-in spikes to plant in flower beds, others for mounting on trees or under your eaves, and on poles for street-light visibility all over your yard.

NO MORE SHOVELING

Here's a marvelous new idea for everyone living where there's a lot of snow. Install water-heated pipes under your driveway and your front walk. At the first sign of snow, turn on the system so that hot water circulates through the pipes and the snow melts the minute it hits. Even after a heavy storm, there'll be no shoveling or sweeping. You can have this "outdoor heating" put in under a new driveway or walk -- before the concrete is poured.

GAS INCINERATORS

One sanitary, safe and effective way to eliminate garbage problems is to sink a garbage can into the ground. (Some places it's required by law). This prevents garbage from attracting rodents and stray animals, and it eliminates unpleasant odors. A good way to dispose of garbage and trash entirely is with an automatic gas incinerator. It burns everything but metal and glass. It's odorless and smoke-free, and can be installed right in your utility room or basement.

SOMETHING TO WATCH

Many older homes were built with wooden beams. Some of these beams are still sound, but many have cracked, loosened or warped. The house can be saved by installing adjustable steel posts in the basement and replacing main beams with strong long-lasting steel beams. If your floors have become uneven, or if your house has settled and plaster walls are still cracking, install steel posts or beams immediately -- before the value of your home is decreased, and the damage is to great to correct.

If sinking damage is severe, have the posts installed by a professional, since it may be necessary to install separate footings for them to prevent cracking your cellar floor. Peeling paint, sweating, cracking or splitting walls are often caused by inadequate ventilation within house walls or in the attic. These conditions can usually be corrected very easily by installing ventilating louvers in the attic, roof overhang or even directly in the siding.

Make sure your wiring is adequate for your new appliances and conveniences -- and those you may wish to add in the future. Have an electrician check it periodically for safety.

INSTALL A FIREPLACE

Handsome steel fireplaces can be installed in any home, old or new. The size of the room opening and the size of the flue opening are critical in fireplace design. One very efficient type has a plenum (heat chamber) built in. It draws cool air from the floor, heats it, and circulates it throughout the room (a great idea for your summer cottage, too). The unit is installed, then faced with wood, brick or stone to match the decor of your room.

You can also choose from a remarkable collection of beautiful fireplaces that hang on the wall, or rest in the center of the floor with a flue pipe that goes right out through the wall or ceiling. They also come in many lovely colors. Remember, these can be installed in your present home without expensive masonry work because insulated steel flue pipes and chimneys can be rigged almost anywhere.

If you want easy access to attic areas, install a safe, strong, folding stairway that disappears so smoothly that even a child can operate it. You can treat it like a regular stairway, but it's out of sight and out of the way when you aren't using it.

KEEP COOL WITH A FAN

The cheapest, easiest way to cool off in summer is with an attic fan. New fans move huge volumes of air quietly. You can equip them with thermostats to start them when the temperature builds up, or with timers to shut them off during the night to save electricity. The new steel units are so well designed that a skilled do-it-yourselfer can install them (but an electrician should do the wiring). Remember that you need adequate louvers to vent the air; louvers are adjustable to fit any opening, can be painted to match your house, and come complete with insect screening.

IT WON'T STRETCH

Since that garden hose won't stretch, you'd better make sure the plot chosen for vegetables is within reach for periodic watering.

Lemont Garden Club Has Busy Schedule For 1961-62

Nov. 15, 1949 at the home of Mrs. James Rollo, the Lemont Garden Club was formally organized. The first elected officers of the club were: Mrs. James Rollo, president; Mrs. John Novak, vice-president; Mrs. F. Donald Delaney, secretary; and Mrs. John Kaser, treasurer. The total attendance at that meeting was 17 women.

As their first civic project the club set up a Christmas tree at Legion Park to be used as a feeding station for the birds. Members were assigned different weeks to replenish the food throughout the winter.

Christmas of 1950 provided the Club with its first blue ribbon. This was received for their Christmas door arrangement entered in the Garden Club of Illinois Christmas show at the Palmer House.

Some of the civic projects completed by the club included several plantings along the G M & O right-of-way, maple trees at the Illinois St. entrance to the Village Hall, window boxes at the water works and library, a tree at the High School and in recent years Christmas decorations at the library.

June 11, 1956 the Club held their first little Flower Show at the home of Mrs. Joseph Mullen. A second show held at the Lemont Grade School June 10, 1957 drew a large attendance. In September of 1958 the Club held its third show at the home of Mrs. Gilbert Helbig.

Throughout the years, the Club has had many fine speakers and the members feel they have gained a great deal of knowledge from their membership in the club. Many gardening questions have been answered and many new ideas have been presented for adding just a little more beauty to the interiors of their homes with the use of cut flowers.

PRESENT OFFICERS

The present officers of the Lemont Club are as follows: Mrs. Daniel Carlson, president; Mrs. Ignatius Jelinski, vice-president; Mrs. Dennis Donahue, 2nd vice-president; Mrs. William Jacobsen, recording secretary; Mrs. Arthur Wunsch, treasurer and Mrs. Harold Petrie, corresponding secretary.

The Club started the new term with a visit to Garfield Park which was a most enjoyable experience for all those attending. The May meeting followed with a talk on Bonsai culture by Roy Hemple of Flossmoor. In June the Club will visit the garden of Mrs. E. Kalis of Hickory Hills for an instruction period on pruning and debudding of garden plants. The summer months are set aside for special tours.

Special surprise programs will be provided for the September and October meetings. Nov. 13 marks the day for a special program on Christmas decorations supervised by Mrs. Arthur Wunsch, one of the club members. In December the club will hold their annual Christmas party with a gift exchange. January will be devoted to garden experiences of the members, also slides will be shown by any members desiring to do so. The year will be completed with slides on flower arrangements and birds of the midwest at the February meeting and a speaker on Horticulture and landscaping in March.

"Home Is Where The Hearth Is"

Family interest in fireplaces--both those outdoors and indoors--is at an all time peak.

Once a necessity, fireplaces in these days of modern heating are somewhat of a luxury. Yet, many families would rather do without other things if it meant they could have a fireplace.

Probably everyone agrees that an open fire on a cold, winter day, is a thing of beauty, warming to hands and heart. Even in summer, a fireplace can be a dramatic feature of a room, perhaps with a vase of flowers in the firebox.

Outdoor fireplaces are inexpensive. Many families build their own, thus limiting the cost of materials. Ideally, the outdoor fireplace should be located in a pleasant, green setting with benches and tables conveniently near. Since an outdoor fireplace is meant for cooking, it should not be too far from the kitchen door. Otherwise the carrying out and carrying back chores will become joy-killers.

But most people hold that there is no substitute for an indoor fireplace. A fireplace just seems to symbolize the comfort and happiness of family unity, as suggested by the familiar saying, "Home is Where the Hearth is."

Today, there are seemingly countless variations in styles of fireplaces.

In Colonial days, when fireplaces were the means of heating, nearly every room had one. Today, most homes have but one, usually in the living room or family room. The location should be chosen with both utility and esthetic effect in mind.

CENTER OF WALL

The typical location is the center of a long wall, which lends itself to built-in bookcases or other balance at the sides. However, charming effects are also obtained by an off-center location. Fireplaces in spur walls and corners are other possibilities. Raised fireplaces with a seat-high ledge running the length of the wall are popular in contemporary homes. There are also free-standing fireplaces, but they are apt to be conspicuous unless used as a room divider or in an area of large space.

"A great big fireplace" is what many think they would like. But it is well to give this desire a second, hard look. Colonial fireplaces were large because they were the source of heating, and big logs were plentiful.

But the big fires that burned in these old fireplaces would be too hot for most modern rooms. And a small fire in a big fireplace usually does not work out well. A fireplace should fit the size of the fire your room will tolerate.

Moreover, fireplaces should be built to the size and scale of the room and its furnishings. A simple small fireplace is apt to be more effective than an elaborate, overscaled one. Often the small fireplace is built without a mantel and this is effective in contemporary homes.

The design of a fireplace depends, too, on the degree of formality for which a home is planned. Most American families enjoy informal, convenient and simplified living. A fireplace that takes on an informal character will be a natural part of this kind of home.

Use Shrubs To Increase Home Attractiveness

The main purpose of planting shrubs around a house is to increase its attractiveness. Your house should not serve as a background for plants. Although shrubs should have enough variety to give interest, they should not detract attention from the house.

Here are some suggestions for planting shrubs close to the house:

1. Repeat the balance of the house in the plantings. If a house is symmetrical, its windows and architectural arrangement are the same on each side. Therefore make plantings the same on each side. With an asymmetrical design, follow an informal balance. Use a variety of plant heights and groupings near the corners and entrance.

2. If the house is extremely long and has an attractive foundation, it isn't necessary to plant shrubs the entire length of the foundation. Let grass grow next to part of the foundation. But make sure the strip of grass is wide enough to look appropriate and is in scale with the rest of the foundation plantings. On the other hand, it's better to screen high foundations with shrubs.

3. At corner plantings, the tallest shrub should not be more than two-thirds of the height from the ground to the second story (or to the eaves on one-story houses.)

4. Plantings next to the front door should be one-third as tall as the distance from the ground to the second floor or eaves.

5. For many ranch-style houses, plantings should be only one deep. In multiple plantings, however, middle plants should be one-half as high as the tallest plants. Low plants should be one-fourth to one-third as high as the middle plants.

Lockport Flower Growers Club Has Won Prizes Since '52

The Lockport Flower Growers Club was organized March 6, 1948, with 20 members. Mrs. Walter Smisloff was elected to be the first president. There are presently 18 members.

The object and goal of the garden club, is the advancement of gardening: development of home grounds; civic beautification: to aid in the protection of forests, wild flowers and birds.

The officers for the term of 1961-1962, are Mrs. Clarence Woock, president; Mrs. E. E. Loving, vice-president; Mrs. William Blainik, secretary, and Mrs. Galien Holloway, treasurer. Delegates to the Will County Federation of Garden Clubs, are Mrs. E. A. Albers and Mrs. Ernest Barker, alternate is Mrs. Will A. Drake, hospitality chairman is Mrs. Walter Munch, and publicity is Mrs. Howard Johnson.

Lockport Flower Growers have won many honors during the 14 years the club has been organized, the first being in 1952, when the Will County Federation was organized and met in the club rooms of Sears Roebuck and Company's new store in Joliet. Each club was on a point system for club participation and horticulture, this club received the first award for having 200 points.

The first flower show sponsored by the Flower Growers was June 4, 1948, at the Lockport Township High School. The theme was "Flowers Can Be Beautiful". This was a joint venture with the Green Thumb Garden Club. In June 1960, the club was awarded the National Blue and White Ribbon for a Standard Show cooperating with another club, this being the Creekside Garden Club.

The total number of ribbons awarded the club in various flower shows are, 12 tri-color, one green special award, 51 blues, 37 reds, 28 yellows, and 10 whites.

The club has sponsored and sent students to the Conservation School, sponsored by the State of Illinois, Department of Conservation. The club has donated flowers to the Dellwood Park Board for the beautification of the park. The program for this year will include a picnic, Christmas party, flower exchange, tour of the Little Red Schoolhouse, and Morton Arboretum and attendance at the summer meetings of the Garden Club of Illinois, Inc.

This club has a rule that the hostesses of the previous meeting arrange for the next month's program, therefore, most programs come as a delightful surprise. The programs most enjoyed by the members are workshops.

Hang Pictures To Enrich Home Decor

You have a chance to display artistic ability in your home when hanging pictures. And, in case you need some help, Clara Dodson, University of Illinois extension home furnishings specialist, gives the following pointers:

Sparsely furnished rooms may have more pictures than rooms with a greater number of furnishings.

It's best to hang pictures close enough to furniture to form a unit. Sometimes a decorative object on a piece of furniture will unite a picture with the grouping. And remember that a picture hung above a piece of furniture should relate to it in scale.

Picture height is important too. The customary eye level is at standing height. But in modern homes pictures need to be hung at the eye level of persons when seated.

If used in a room with single large pictures, small pictures look best when hung in groups. And pictures hung on patterned walls require framing or mats to set them apart from the background.

Miss Dodson also makes these suggestions: (1) Hang the picture as flat as possible so that it will seem a part of the wall. Screw eyes placed near the top of the frame will serve this purpose. (2) Most pictures should hang blind, with no wire showing. (3) If a picture requires hanging from molding, use two hooks, one on each end of a long wire against the back of the picture. This method avoids the ugly triangle caused by a one-hook installation.

DUSTS VS SPRAYS

As a general rule, dusts give better control than sprays if they are applied while the leaves are damp, because the moisture helps the dust "stick" to the leaves. Since rose leaves are waxy and slippery, sprays will not stick so well to the leaf surface.

Hampton Park Garden Club Is Just One Half Year Old

The Hampton Park Garden Club was formed in May 1960. There were six members and at the end of one year, the membership has increased to 12, with the hope that the maximum number of 30 will be reached by May of 1962.

In December of 1960 the club was accepted into the Garden Club of Illinois, Inc., and National Council of Garden Clubs, Inc. At the same time the club became associated with the Will County Federation of Garden Clubs.

Six weeks after the club was organized a rummage sale was held and the proceeds paid all expenses of the club for the year 1960 and also paid for all the flower show equipment which was used in the standard Flower Show, "Aloha Hawaii", presented by the club May 20, at the Valley View School on Naperville Road.

The By-laws were adopted and all meetings have been conducted according to Roberts Rules of Order.

The aim of the club for this year is to send a student to the Conservation School sponsored by the State of Illinois, to landscape the entrances to Hampton Park, and cooperate with the landscaping and planting of flowers at the Civic Center.

The club calendar for the year 1961-62 is as follows: April 4, dividing and planting perennials; May 2, plant annual seeds and final arrangements for flower show; June 6, starting perennials from seed; July 5, workshop - flower arranging; Aug. 1, dividing and planting Iris and Peonies; Sept. 5, house plants and plant exchange; Oct. 3, planting of the bulbs; Nov. 7, dry arrangements, bring container and flowers; Dec. 5, Christmas "ideas" to be brought by each member; Jan. 2, Landscaping and planning of your garden; Feb. 6, Conservation, good soil for planting, election of officers and March 6, Getting ready for Spring-clean up campaign, installation of officers.

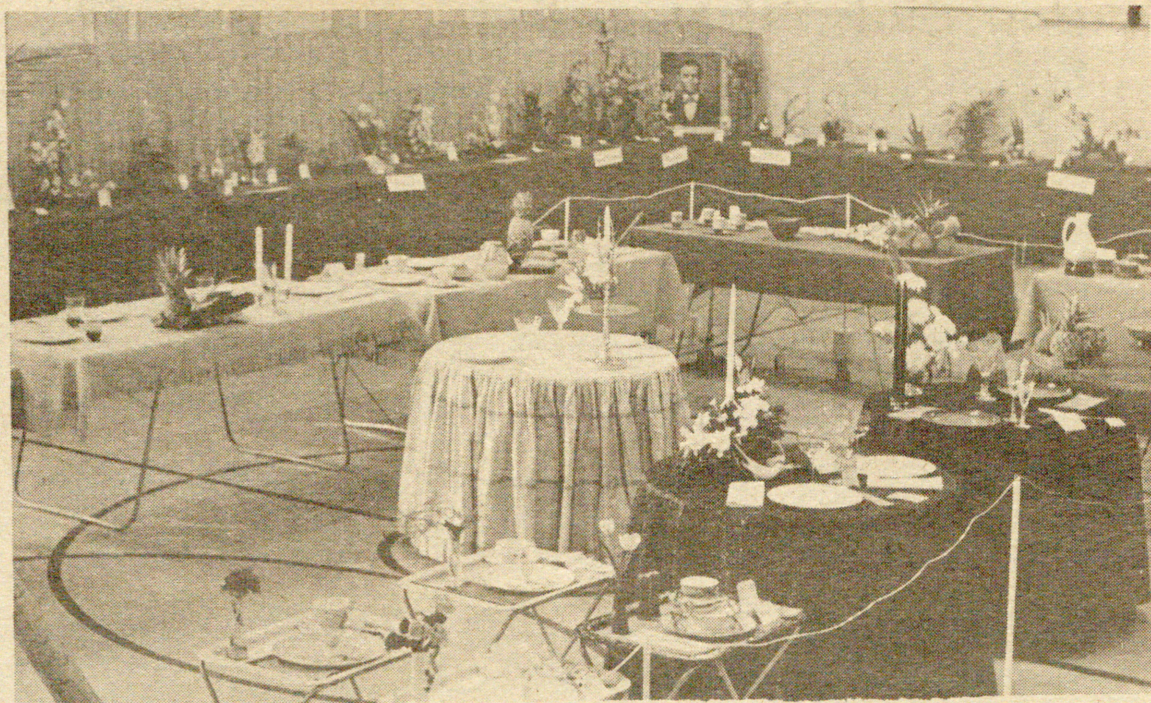

The official flower of the Garden Club is the Queen Anne's Lace.

Mrs. J. L. McCain is serving her second term as president, Mrs. Anthony Holt is serving a second term as first vice-president and program chairman, Mrs. Donald Phend ways and means, membership chairman, and second vice-president; Mrs. Donald G. Harast, recording secretary; Mrs. David Wilcox, treasurer and Mrs. Clarence Hill, corresponding secretary. Mrs. Lawrence Baumgardner, conservation chairman, Mrs. Fremont Hartman, publicity and historian. Librarian is Mrs. Harvey Pollack; plant fruit and flower guild, Mrs. Richard Valha and tour chairman, Mrs. Frances Talbot. Parliamentarian and sponsor of the club is Mrs. Joseph F. Mullen.

The club has been awarded four red and one white ribbon for their table settings. The members have received a total of 18 blues, 8 red, 7 yellow, 5 white, and Mrs. McCain was given a Special Award for her Cacti collection, at the Will County Federation of Garden Clubs 1960 Fall Flower Show.

TYPICAL SHOW--The Hampton Park Garden Club Flower Show "Aloha Hawaii" held in late May was a fine example of how successful a small club can be in presenting a flower show. There were a large number of entries and the theme "Hawaiian Luau" presented a unique opportunity for the entries to be imaginative and beautiful as well.

ICE ON TILE

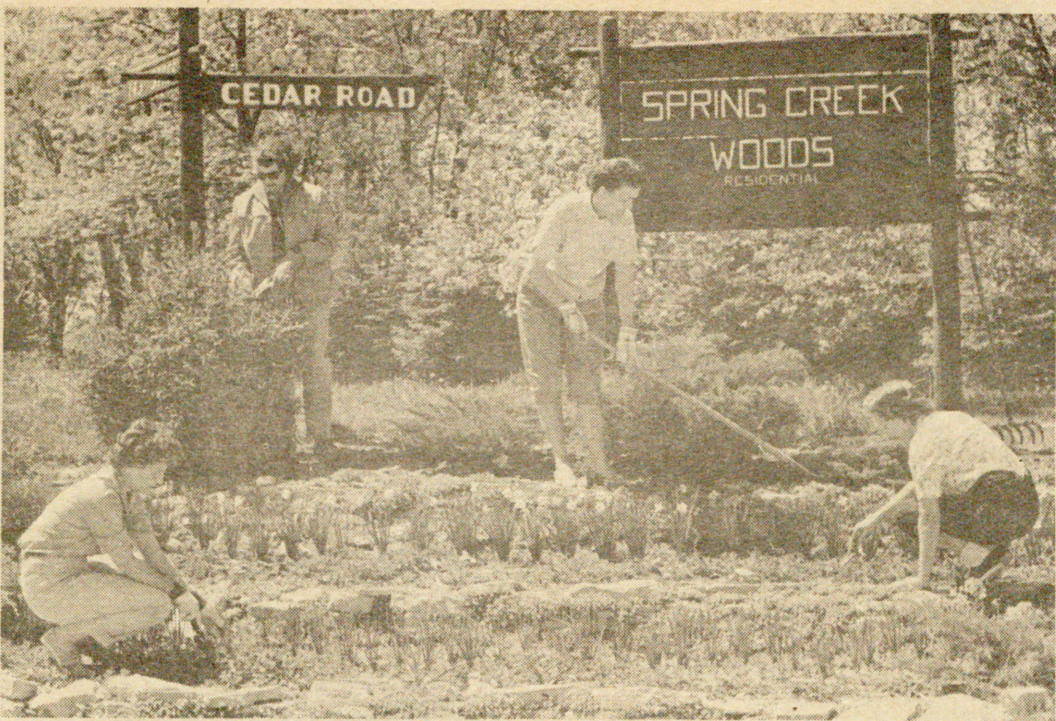

When sections of an old tiled floor must be lifted, the job can be speeded up considerably by first covering the damaged tiles with a quantity of dry ice wrapped in folded cloth. After an hour or so the tile will become so brittle that it can be easily cracked and lifted off.

CLEANING PAINT OFF METAL PARTS

If you want to clean off the paint from metal objects such as door knobs and hinges, boil them in a solution of trisodium phosphate, which is available at your paint dealer's. Immerse the parts in just enough water to cover them, add three or four tablespoons of the phosphate, boil five minutes, then rinse the parts in hot water.

CLEANUP TIP

Save a lot of floor tracking and mopping up for yourself during this damp season by putting a paper towel holder on the back porch or on the back door. Youngsters and grownups can then wipe off mud and snow from galoshes and boots, before entering the house.

The Lockport Flower Growers were included in this award. Green Thumb Garden Club Was Organized In 1943

The Green Thumb Garden Club, organized May 24, 1943, is an active group of women whose purpose is to learn not only how to plant and care for flowers and shrubs but how to use them properly and artistically in their homes.

Monthly meetings are held the third Tuesday of each month of the club year which is September through May. A scheduled program, planned by the officers, is printed in booklet form for each member in advance of the club year. Previous programs have included arrangements and table settings, work shops, group trips and guest artists.

The club has been active in the Will County Federation of Garden

Clubs and has won numerous blue ribbons and many tri-color ribbons for entries of table settings as well as individual arrangements in shows throughout this area; the most recent being a blue ribbon for a Polynesian table setting in the Hampton Park Garden Club show and a tri-color ribbon for an individual arrangement by one of the club members, Mrs. Arthur Price.

This year, as a civic project, the club has arranged to place flowers and artistic arrangements each Thursday in the Lockport library.

Recently elected officers for the club year are: Mrs. Marion Ramberg, president; Mrs. Nelda Davis, vice president; Mrs. Theda Morton, secretary; Mrs. Bobbie Noble, treasurer.

How To Care For Your Garden Roses

By JAMES FIZZELL, ASS'T. FARM ADVISER COOK COUNTY

Roses are the most popular garden flower. They grow in many forms, and are adapted to many different growing locations. The following suggestions should be used as a guide in caring for your roses. Proper care will insure good blooms throughout the season.

Pruning roses, for some reason, is believed to be hard to do. Actually it's a rather simple procedure. Use sharp tools to give clean cuts and be careful not to injure the bark.

The main purpose of pruning is to improve the plant's appearance, to remove dead wood, and to control the quantity and quality of flowers produced. If roses are not pruned they soon grow into a bramble patch and produce small, inferior flowers.

When pruning, first remove all dead and broken canes. Then cut off portions of canes damaged by winter injury. If no buds are left on the live wood, remove the entire cane. Cut out all weak growth and any branches which grow toward the center of the plant. If two branches cross one another, remove the weaker. Cut back remaining canes so they are about 12 inches long. Always cut on an outside bud, and slope the cut away from the bud.

Do not prune climbing roses until after they bloom except for removing dead and broken canes. Climbers produce flower buds in fall and pruning would cut them off. Flowers are produced only on new or one year old wood. Rather than reducing the number of flowers, severe pruning actually stimulates new wood growth which in turn stimulates flower production.

Roses are more often overfed than underfed. Such feeding causes too much growth and fewer flowers. It also causes plants to continue growing until early winter making them susceptible to winter injury.

A soil sample is the best way to find out how much fertilizing a rose bed needs, but a good rule-of-thumb is: apply three pounds of a complete fertilizer, such as 10-10-10 for every 100 square feet, or one heaping tablespoon for each plant. Work the fertilizer into the soil, then water.

When a complete fertilizer is used, it may be necessary to apply it several times during the growing season. Make the first application when new spring growth is well established and after first danger is past. Additional feedings may be made if deficiency symptoms appear. Do not apply fertilizer after August 15.

In general, roses prefer a slightly acid soil. Lime is usually not necessary.

SPRAYING: Several diseases and insects attack roses. The two most common diseases are black spot and mildew. The most common insects are aphids, rose slugs, spider mites and thrips.

Most rose dusts and sprays are formulated to contain fungicides and insecticides. A commercial spray or dust will give adequate control of both diseases and insects.

As a general rule, dusts give better control than sprays if they are applied while the leaves are damp, because the moisture helps the dust "stick" to the leaves. Since rose leaves are waxy and slippery, sprays will not stick so well to the leaf surface.

Apply a dust or spray once a week or after each rain.

Describe Early Lawn Diseases

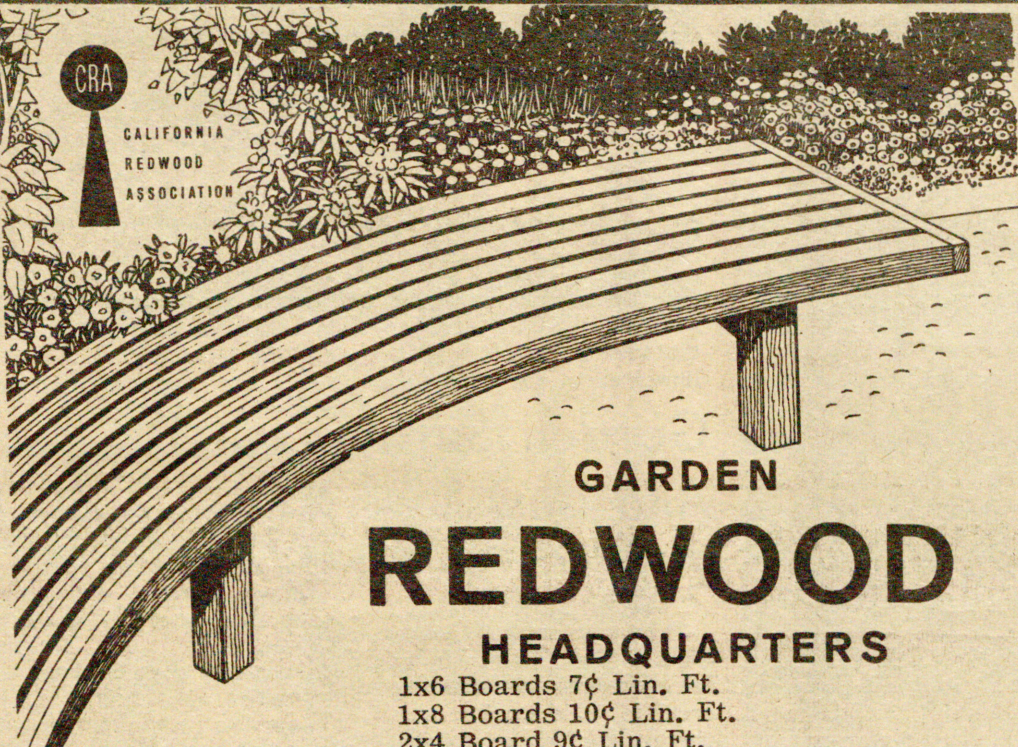

Leaf spot and footrot are two of the first fungus diseases of the year that attack lawns, warns M. P. Britton, University of Illinois plant pathologist. He advises prompt control if and when the first signs appear.

Leaf spot disease occurs any time after late March. A heavy infestation of the disease kills grass leaves. The spots often have tan centers and purplish margins.

The closely related footrot attacks anything from the stems on down and may kill large areas of lawns by May or June if not controlled. The affected part of the grass turns brown.

For leaf spot and footrot control, Britton says any one of the following fungicide materials are satisfactory: Dyrene, Ortho lawn and turf fungicide, Kromad, captan, Terson plus mercury and Actidionethiram. Apply the first spray in early April; apply at least twice more at 7- to 14-day intervals. Four or five spray applications may be necessary during cool, rainy seasons. Merion bluegrass is resistant to leaf spot and footrot.

Britton adds that controlling fungus diseases depends a lot on good management. Good drainage, watering, fertilization and removal of lawn-mower clippings often eliminate the need for fungicide treatments.

Flower Show Judging Is Exact Art But Subject To Criticism

The most engrossing past time at many flower shows is the criticism of judges. For the information of gardeners, flower arrangers and growers here is a brief report of the flower judges educational process and some of the weaknesses that prove judges can be human too. Perhaps it will soften some of the criticism.

A qualified judge gives up five years of hard work to obtain a National Council Accredited Amateur Flower Show Judge's Certificate.

Each must take refresher courses periodically to retain it. Statistically only one-third of the judges taking the refresher courses pass the first time. They are required to memorize about 30 books, take regular courses, and a reading examination, being able to quote from all books, besides taking 26 written examinations.

It is necessary for them to exhibit in five standard flower shows, before being permitted to take a refresher examination. An accredited judge should not participate in any show which is not a standard flower show, as they do not receive the necessary credits to retain their certificate. All shows and judging must conform to the rules set forth in the Handbook for Flower Shows (1957), and Directive, published by the National Council of State Garden Clubs, Inc.

A course in school runs three days, from 9 a.m. until 6 p.m. The first day usually has a lecture on flower show procedure in the morning. Luncheon is served right in the class room with the exception of Chicago. In the afternoon, lectures are on horticulture. At 3:30 p.m., one starts judging a horticulture show. On the second day, it is given over to flower arranging, color and landscaping.

In the late afternoon a judge will point score a flower show. Upon returning home the student writes and studies about 45 pages of notes taken during the lectures. On the third morning there are two written examinations on procedure and horticulture, in the afternoon a written examination on flower arranging and color.

Judges are taught to eliminate any carelessness or pettiness in the handling of assignments. They have a responsibility to themselves, to be the best judges, free from prejudices and arrogance.

Judging can be considered an "exact science". This is to say after all this hard work, sacrifice and financial expenditure, many judges go out and do exactly as they please.

One judge saw goblets on a table setting like her grandmother had when she was a little girl, and remembered drinking from them. If the table had not received the blue ribbon they would probably still be there. Another judge refuses to consider a table with a black cloth. Eucalyptus has a medicinal value and is fragrant, one judge uses it all the time and any such arrangement receives a top award. There is a judge who goes in for the bazaar or gaudy type of tables or arrangement. One group "hates" modern, still there is another group who won't judge traditional. The judge most faithful to her trust is the one who helps her club set a table, goes to the flower show as a judge, insists that this particular table score 95 points or more to receive the tri-color, then swears she didn't know it was her club's entry.

ECONOMICAL--This gardening outfit is made from perky polkadot cotton bags with McCall's pattern 5755. It is cool, comfortable and most of all economical. A pretty gardener, in such a pretty outfit, would be welcome in any man's back yard.

Kitchen Cabinet Design Important

The design of kitchen cabinets may be more important than their size. This is one of the conclusions of recent research at the University of Illinois. On the basis of this study, the following recommendations are made:

Use adjustable shelves in wall cabinets to eliminate the need to stack unlike articles and to eliminate waste space between shelves. Extra shelves also help to solve this problem.

In cabinets containing many small articles, use door storage and narrower shelves within the cabinet.

A distance of 15 inches between base and wall cabinets provides ample work and equipment space and will bring more wall cabinet space within easy reach.

Drawers of proper height and with good hardware are the most functional arrangement for many supplies stored in base cabinets. Pull-out shelves rank second, Revolving shelves help to solve the problem of reaching into corners.

Tinley Terrace Is New Development

Tinley Terrace, 164th and Oak Park Ave. in Tinley Park is the latest in down-town housing developments. This development is following the current trend of building within corporate limits of villages to assure home owners of shopping areas, churches and schools within easy walking distance.

Another feature of the "in town" project, being developed by Villa Construction Co., is its convenience to Chicago Loop transportation and the 21 trains per day through Tinley Park.

The new homes have a distinctively different look and range from three to five bedrooms.

DEMONSTRATOR--Mrs. Joseph LaTocha takes a few moments to show the Creekside Garden Club some of the lessons she has learned in flower arranging.

Garden Sprays And Dusts Evaluated

Garden and Home Improvement Supplement
Page 14 June 8, 1961

There's no "pat" answer to which is best, a spray or a dust, for controlling diseases and insects in home gardens and orchards. But here are some guides from the University of Illinois Department of Plant Pathology:

FLOWERS: Dusts are better than sprays. They are easier to apply and stick better when the foliage is wet. Special equipment isn't needed either. U. of I. specialists recommend all-purpose dusts for home use. These mixes contain both insecticides and fungicides and control practically all common insects and diseases. For best results, be sure to follow the manufacturer's directions.

VEGETABLES: Either sprays or dusts are satisfactory, but complete coverage is the important thing. Again, dusts are easier to apply and do not need special equipment. All-purpose vegetable dusts, if used correctly, control both insects and diseases, but home-mixed sprays generally give better disease control. Some basic ingredients for home-mixed sprays are malathion as the insecticide, and maneb, zineb or captan as the fungicide. Specific problems require a more specific mix.

FRUITS: Both dusts and sprays may be used. However, sprays usually give more effective coverage and consequently better control on such fruits as apples and strawberries. The specialists say that home mixes are usually better than all-purpose sprays. The basic materials needed for a home mix are lead arsenate, DDT and malathion as the insecticides, and captan, zineb and wettable sulfur as the fungicides.

The best times to apply dusts are either in the early morning or late evening, when the leaves are damp and the air is still. Sprays, however, can be applied any time when the air is fairly calm.

You can get a complete spray schedule for flowers, fruits and vegetables from your county farm adviser or the Department of Plant Pathology, College of Agriculture, Urbana.

Plastics Are Used Inside Upholstery Too

Plastic foams, vinyl and urethane, are helping to up-date upholstered furniture. Used in either upholstery or spring construction, these materials offer several advantages over others.

When used in upholstery, the plastics sometimes replace cotton padding. Or they may be used for stuffing either alone or in combination with down, rubberized hair or Dacron fiberfill.

Both vinyl and urethane foams are resistant to moths, mildew and fire. They are not affected by cleaning fluids or detergents. Therefore, they are not harmed by spot cleaning.

Also, they are lightweight but strong and self-ventilating. Consequently, furniture using plastic foam is lighter in appearance and actual weight than that using old-style materials.

Plastic foams even overcome some of the disadvantages of rubber foam, including fabric slippage, sensitivity to oil and deterioration from oxidation. Because the fabric does not slip, the upholstery lasts longer.
